

Afghan Kush Auto

The Father of All Kushes.

- 100% natural painkiller. A great choice for medicinal patients who need to alleviate physical pain.
- Perfect for hash makers. Almost pure hash-like taste, every old-school hash maker's go-to strain.
- The king of Indicas. One of our purest Indica strains to date!
- Lulls you to sleep. Smoking too much will rock you to sleep, so pick the right time to smoke it!

This fast-flowering hybrid ranges between 60-90cm, usually staying on the shorter side while producing around 500gr/m² in 56-63 days from seed to harvest. A superb choice for those looking to grow quick and resistant Indica-dominant strains with a narcotic and long-lasting corporal high, making it the perfect painkiller. Expect huge amounts of resin and that unforgettably pungent terpene mix of earthy, sweet, and spicy aromas that makes for that unique hashish that old-schoolers love.

Bud description

Afghan Kush Auto reaches in between 60-90cm but grows compact and usually stays on the shorter side, developing a short main cola and a few shorter side branches with big and wide dark-green fan leaves, typical of Indica-dominant strains. This variety grows large-sized thick light-green buds with dark-green hues that complement the buds perfectly. Expect an insane amount of trichomes that will start to appear early in the flowering stage and will start to reek of a delicious earthy and kushy aroma from early on so make sure you have your carbon filter ready.

Smoke report

Thanks to the exclusively selected Indica genetics, expect an overwhelming Indica effect. This variety hits hard, you'll experience insane munchies and, if you smoke too much it will literally knock you out. You will stay as lazy as you can get and extremely couch-locked, making this strain ideal for those looking for a strong corporal effect to unwind after a long workday and alleviating sore muscles after a long workout routine or for medicinal patients suffering from insomnia, appetite loss, or physical pain.

Plant appearance

Our Afghan Kush Auto grows with that classic Indica appearance, you can expect it to reach around 60-90cm with wide dark-green fan leaves, short internodal spacing, and a thick stem and branches that will reward you with up to 500gr/m² of super resinous buds. This strain is suited for all types of growers and it's a great choice for those cultivating in a balcony or in a backyard due to the compact structure and short stature. Thanks to the elite-genetic mix, this variety is a great choice for growers who suffer from harsh climates due to the high resistance against common pests and mold, making it an excellent choice for outdoor growers.

Grow tips

This is a very resilient hybrid, a good choice for outdoors in challenging climates, just make sure you give it the basics and you will get great results in no time. You can expect this autoflower to grow quite compact and homogenous, perfect for those growing in a Sea of Green or for those trying to fit a higher number of plants in a smaller grow space. We recommend performing LST to allow light to reach deeper, resulting in higher yields and air to flow in between the buds, to prevent mold and bugs from getting into your buds.

Flavor

This variety produces an unforgettable old-school taste. Expect that classic earthy, piney, and herbal terpene mix that smells like pure hash and hides heavy citrus undertones; The taste is quite kushy but with more earthy and peppery flavors, and a slightly sweet background that helps smooth out the smoke and will allow you to taste all of the individual flavors as you exhale slowly.
